

GET RID OF HUMORS
AND AVOID DISEASE

Humor in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, such as pimples, boils and other eruptions. These are the result of impure blood, and well as membranes, and tissues, and are directly responsible for the redness with which people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

SMALL BANKS INSIST ON COLLECTION OF EXCHANGE

Senators Smith and Hardwick Champion Cause Before Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Senators Smith and Hardwick appeared before the federal reserve board this morning to protest against the ruling that will deprive country member-banks of the federal reserve collection of exchange on checks. The question is one of vital importance to the smaller banks throughout the country, and within the past two days the Georgia senators have received hundreds of telegrams and letters from Georgia bankers protesting against the proposed ruling.

The federal reserve board has the question under consideration," explains Senator Hardwick. "Large banks have interests in certain parts of the country are urging the adoption of an order denying the member banks the right to collect exchange. The banks, particularly the smaller ones, are very much opposed to any such order. It would deprive them of much revenue in the course of a year and in many instances would work a great injustice and hardship."

The reserve board did not indicate what its decision would be, but I am hopeful no such order will be adopted."

EXPERT WILL LECTURE ON ECONOMY IN FUEL

Prof. Joseph W. Hays, of Chicago, Will Deliver Address Here January 26

Tuesday evening, January 26, Prof. Joseph W. Hays, of Chicago, will deliver a lecture on "Smokes and Economical Combustion" in the assembly room of the Mechanical and Manufacturers' club in the Chandler building.

Prof. Hays is a well known expert on all matters pertaining to the economical use of fuel in industrial establishments and is a recognized authority on furnace construction for steam boilers.

In view of the persistent efforts which have been put forth to abolish smoke in Atlanta, and the large number of manufacturers and others who are vitally interested in the subject of fuel economy, this lecture, which will be free, will be largely attended, and special preparations are being made to accommodate all who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity.

SEWELL AGAIN PLACED ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

For the second time within a few months James P. Sewell has been placed on trial for his life in the superior court. Sewell was convicted on a charge of murdering F. L. Goodwin in the East hotel last year, but appealed to the supreme court, which granted him a new trial on the ground that the verdict of Judge Ben Hill's charge to the jury was likely to prejudice the minds of the jurors on certain points.

The second trial of Sewell commenced Tuesday afternoon, and by 2 o'clock a jury had been drawn.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS TO BE HELD IN SPRING

Examinations will be held in the spring for places in the civil service of the city of Atlanta. The secretary of the fifth civil service district having made an announcement to this effect.

There are places in the Philippines, Panama, in the Indian reservation, in Washington and other points. The examinations will be held here on March 4, April 11 and May 12. The secretary of the commission will give applicants further details.

TUESDAY IS BIRTHDAY OF GENERAL W. A. WRIGHT

Tuesday was Comptroller General W. A. Wright's birthday as well as that of General Robert E. Lee. Wright was the recipient of congratulations from many friends both in Atlanta and throughout the state. His desk at the Capitol was decorated with beautiful flowers sent him by friends.

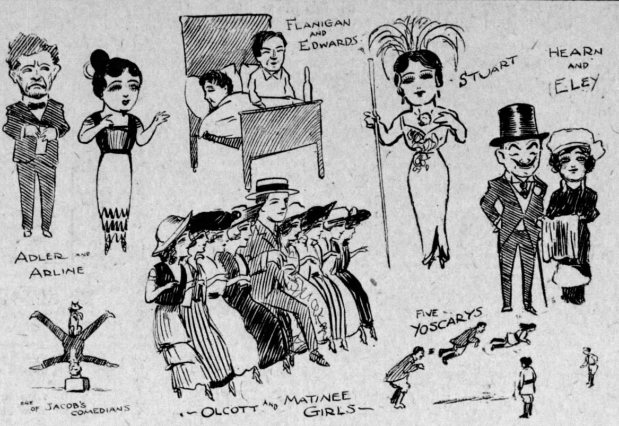

General Wright was a gallant officer in the Confederate army and lost a leg in one of the many battles in which he participated.

Bankruptcy Petitions

An involuntary bankruptcy petition was brought Tuesday against Steinhilber & W. H. Inc., automobile dealers of 22 Peachtree street, by the Standard Thermometer company, of Boston, and other creditors.

Voluntary bankruptcy petitions were filed as follows: Reginald E. Norton, a chauffeur, $147; Robert E. Hope, a merchant, $2,885, with assets of $625; Nathan H. Chase, a clerk, $204; T. T. McElroy, doing business as the Empire Market, $2,359, with assets of $2,000; and H. G. Johnson, a traveling salesman of Carrollton, $3,422.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

Last week at the Forsyth they had a "double-barreled voice," as Will Rogers, the cowboy comedian, called it, same being Miss Claire Rochester, and this week they've got a man with a double-barreled voice, his entanglement on the bill being "Stuart."

He comes out dressed in a woman's costume in imitation of the famous singer, and sings and trills and wails with high notes in exact imitation of a woman's voice. Then in the midst of a particularly feminine outburst he pauses, looks to the gallery, and shouts "Come on, boys! In a booming male bass that sounds like a fog horn."

After that he sings "Tipperary" in English, French and German, switching from one to the other like a rapid-fire gun and bringing down the house.

The headline of the bill is Gus Edwards & Co., who have a new act this season entitled "The Matinee Girls." They are all grown people, they can all sing, and they are all given opportunity to show what they've got.

Jacobs and Flanagan give a comedy sketch of two young fellows walking through a night in motion picture. The film was put on Monday and will be shown again Tuesday afternoon and evening.

COLUMBIA WINS FIGHT FOR EQUALITY OF RATES

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Columbia chamber of commerce won its contest today for equality of treatment with Augusta for the southern railway and other roads which connect those points with several eastern ports.

The Interstate commerce commission ordered that commodity rates to Columbia should not exceed those to Augusta from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other eastern points whence class rates to Columbia and Augusta are equal.

The order applies to all rail or water and rail rates and the carriers are given until March 29 in which to file new tariffs.

SAYS HUSBAND'S NAGGING BROKE DOWN HER HEALTH

Mrs. Blondine Dabney Files Suit for Divorce Against O. L. Dabney

Blondine and "controlling, overbearing, never-ending nagging," are given as grounds for divorce by Mrs. Blondine Dabney in a suit filed Monday afternoon against O. L. Dabney.

Dabney now a traveling salesman, was served with the suit at the Leland hotel. His wife also asks alimony and the custody of their two children, Marion, eleven years old, and Virginia, seven years old. Judge Ellis set January 20 as the date for the billon hearing.

Mrs. Dabney, 76 East Tenth street, alleges she was forced to find work in a downtown department store because of her husband, although amply able to support herself. She says she would not decently feed and clothe her and the children. She says he is a good business man, capable of earning $150 to $200 a month.

She alleges that his never-ending nagging, which seemed to give him great pleasure, twisted her soul almost to the breaking point. She alleges that he left her for too much and all for too long. She says he was not a shadow of a former healthy and robust self. He has been worn down in body and soul by his nagging.

She says he faulted her with untrue accusations in the presence of customers who worked. She says he took her out to lunch occasionally and would complain that she ate too much. On one occasion, she alleges, he abused her because she ate more than 15 cents worth of food. She says she would spend hours at home at night after working all day, sewing for herself and her daughters; she says he would complain on these occasions because she burned the electric light. They were married January 23, 1901, she says; she left him in August, 1902, she alleges, because of his treatment of her; she returned to him in April, 1911, she says, after he begged her to come back and promised to be kind and affectionate; she left him again, she alleges, December 26, 1912, when he became worse than ever, and has remained away from him ever since.

TO HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR--NO DANDRUFF

Use Parisian Sage. It Makes the Hair Soft and Fluffy, Surely Stops Itching Head.

If your hair is anything short of perfect, if it is losing color, too dry, brittle, thin, or if the scalp itches and itches, immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application removes all dandruff scales and invigorates the scalp, and beautifies the hair until it is gloriously radiant.

Parisian Sage supplies all hair needs and does not injure either the hair or scalp. It contains the exact elements needed to make the hair soft, wavy, glossy, and to make it grow thick and beautiful. It is delicately perfumed, and its pleasant fragrance is had at Jacob's 11 Stores, or any drug or toilet counter.

Parisian Sage acts instantly—no application stops the head from itching and freshens up the hair. It is so surprising and delighted with this helpful toilet necessity, for nothing else is so good for the hair and scalp, and nothing so quickly beautifies the hair, giving it that enviable charm and fascination. Parisian Sage is one of the quickest acting hair tonics known—improvement and easily used at home.

FRITZ KREISLER IN BATTLE

Here's a large mouth, indeed,
That spits forth death and mountains, rocks
and seas,
Talks as familiarly of roaring lions
As maids of thirteen do of puppy-dogs!
He speaks plain cannon fire, and smoke and bounce;
He gives the bastinado with his tongue:
Our ears are cudgell'd; not a word of his
But buffets better than a fist of France:
Zounds! I was never so bethumped with words
Since I first call'd my brother's father dead.
—King John.

(The Journal welcomes short letters on seasonable subjects; but long epistles are a weariness to the flesh. In no circumstances will anonymous communications be published.)

Editor The Journal: In the present world crisis President Wilson's choice against a war policy, and for the policy of peace and neutrality, even in the face of a hundred provocations by Mexico, etc., is our choice—the representative choice of the nation. Our country is being spared the horrors of modern slaughter (war). "He that taketh the sword, shall perish by the sword," is the fiat of God. And the peace-making and peace-keeping president of our country, truly and adequately represents the vast majority of the people of our peace-loving and peace-keeping nation.

In God's providential favor to our country he brought President Wilson and Secretary Bryan from New Jersey to the White House, and I am glad to say that they are—our official representatives for our good as a nation, for our peace, to maintain neutrality for us, during this world crisis. The present world crisis of slaughter (war as it is) and destruction is destined to end. The agency—the active agency for changing the entire world is the church, the church of the new dispensation of the past 2,000, and the transition into the new age set forth in prophecy as "the times of gentleness," (the effort of humanity to government itself).

The dominant principle of greed and selfishness is the thing now being consumed (burned with fire)—destroyed. The principle of the new world is the principle of government, now being ushered in—justice, unselfishness and righteousness, soon to begin to take up in control, and to be over the whole earth for the next thousand years.

"The climax or end of this world crisis will be the terrible anarchy that Europe has known in the past, now at slaughter and destruction and in varying degrees over the earth.

"The end of this world with its unanimous desire—the desire for peace and then 'the desire of all nations will come. The prince of peace or ruler who will establish peace and order, will by His power execute the will of God, and the nations will approach peace and unselfish co-operation ever yet coming.

"This is the meaning of the present world crisis, and this is the end it is working for the world's blessing and the blessing of all nations. It could it be accomplished completely and permanently.

"We are doing it and it is wonderful before our eyes, who are now living in the end of the age—of this age—just as it was in the beginning of the age—of this age—just as it was in the age that preceded this age, two thousand years ago.

"President Wilson and Mr. Bryan have made mistakes, but in this world crisis they truly represent the country they represent."

Uncle Sam In the Movies

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—The members of the National Press club of Washington, including all of the active newspaper men and scores of prominent government officials, will meet at the Government officials who are associate members of the club, are still talking of the theater party they enjoyed as the guests of Frederick J. Haskin and Henry W. Savage. "Uncle Sam at Work" inspired by and based upon Haskin's well known book, "The American Government," produced under the direction of Savage. was the vehicle on which the newspaper men and government officials took their icy ride. They themselves as others see them in the premier exhibition of the biggest and most realistic moving picture production ever staged in America. "The American Government" by Hawks, first presented in a special newspaper articles, which were published in The Atlanta Journal and elsewhere. The series attracted such wide attention and commanded so much praise, that the author was persuaded to turn it into a book.

The author was persuaded to issue the book, which has had wide circulation through the nation. The motion pictures which this book inspired were prepared after six months' hard work and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars.

"Uncle Sam at Work" shows moving pictures of many things never before subjected to the camera. Notably, the United States senate never before permitted motion pictures to be made within its chamber, and it has been announced that the permission will not be granted again. Owing to the discussion provoked in the senate when the pictures were made, much interest was manifested in the film showing Vice President Marshall opening a session in the senate, as well as the pictures of Senators Kern, of Indiana, Chamberlain, of Oregon and Lee, of Tennessee, at their desks. Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, showed to advantage on the screen, as he paused to get his match by the

The house of representatives was shown, with Speaker Champ Clark calling the body to order.

Champ Clark, during the body to order, wearing his characteristic bored expression, while Judge Adamson, of Georgia and Mr. Simms, of Tennessee, swapped funny stories down near the speaker's rostrum.

The wonderful pictures of the scientific activities of the government, the stirring scenes taken from army life, and the unique and effective pictures of the North Atlantic fleet in battle practice created a great interest in the great exhibition.

interest, but the spectators to this first performance were more especially interested in the people on the screen.

Quips and Quiddities

A British soldier in Belgium was one morning wending his way to camp with a fine rooster in his arms. When he was stopped by his colonel to know if he had been stealing chickens.

"No, colonel," was the reply. "I saw the old fellow sitting on the wall, and I ordered him to crow for England, and he wouldn't; so I just took him prisoner."

An Irishman and an Englishman, having met recently, were describing the hair-breadth escapes they had at the front.

"Well," says Pat, "in one engagement I was in one of these German bullets nearly took my hair off my face—it went so close. What do you think of that for a close shave?"

them German shells came so close that it took the hair off my head. What price that for a hair cut?" he asked, pointing to his glassy poll.

Mrs. Fletcher went up to the city one morning to do some shopping. She was looking for some housefurnishings, and went to a large department store.

"Will you please tell me where I can see the can-dabra?"

"All canned goods two counters to the right," replied the official guide, briefly.—Harper's Magazine.

Manager Smith Pleased With New Material

Players Who Will Come Here From St. Louis Browns Are Announced and Look Good. Two Catchers and Outfielder Chosen—Others to Come

The matter of help that the Crackers may expect from the St. Louis Browns for the 1915 season is taking more definite shape, and Manager Bill Smith has announced some of the players who will come here from that source. Those who are certain for the local club are Bill Rimmer and Joe Jenkins, catcher, Milton Bowden, outfielder, and either Miller or Hollander, pitcher.

In addition to the above, Manager Smith has been promised another outfielder to be delivered shortly after the season opens. This man will be selected from three players, Yale Sloan, Ernest Walker and Clemens. Both Sloan and Walker have played in this league, while Clemens was formerly in the American association. Sloan played with Montgomery in 1914, as did Walker. Last season he was with Nashville, until an operation put him out of commission. Walker was held by the Browns for the season.

The chief source of satisfaction for the local manager is the acquisition of the two new catchers. Rimmer formerly played with Dick Robinson at Burlington in the Central association. He was a heavy hitting league player, and kept up his good stick work in the few games he worked for the Browns last season. He is a big husky chap, who can stand lots of work.

Jenkins is a southern product, he was his first professional engagement at Rome a few years ago. He was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals and sent to the Central association. From last circuit he was drafted up by Branch Rickey. He was retained by the Browns throughout last season, though he worked in only a few games. Rimmer is a veteran, who can stand up under a lot of work.

Timon Bowden, the outfielder who has been selected to share thing for the Crackers in the former football baseball star, broke into professional ranks in 1913 at Cordale, and played last season in the St. Louis Browns. He led that circuit in hitting, while there, and his entry into his league career in the few games that he played was very favorable. The coming season should be a great one for him.

Some Hot Match This Checker Game

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—John J. McGraw, world's champion checker player, took the twenty-fourth game from the opponent, Newell V. Banks, former American champion after twenty-three drawn games, and today will be pitted in the finals against Hugh Henderson, of Pittsburgh, national champion.

Twenty-five drawn games in a championship checker tournament breaks the record of extended stalemate. Henderson eliminated Banks with a mixed attack after opening with the Bristol Cross.

McGraw and Party Enroute to Havana

ATLANTA, Jan. 18.—John J. McGraw, Christie Mathewson and Hans Lobert, accompanied by their wives, passed through the city on Monday en route to Havana, Cuba. McGraw, before leaving, visited the National league office, and said he thought of himself as a national league player.

He will guarantee him 250 yards with a half-liger shot.

No further proof is needed that something is radically wrong with the Penn. football system. After hanging on to the Indians and two-thirds of their games.

Many Men For Lookouts Coming Season

Manager McCormick Stops Off Here to Visit George Stallings—Has Signed Only Two Men From Last Year's Line-Up

When the Lookouts make their first appearance here next spring local fans are going to get an introduction to the whole force with one or two exceptions. This much from Manager Harry McCormick, "Moore" Moore, arrived in Atlanta Monday night from the Tennessee circuit, en route to Georgia. He is a native of the state, and he expects to spend a week or so hunting with the boss of the Boston Braves.

"So far," said McCormick, "I have only two men on my list who were in last season. These are Freddy Gray and Jack Johnson. I know we need Mickey Doyle and Carl Flick near the close of last season. Street was sold to Nashville, and Jacobson was drafted by Detroit. As yet we have not renewed contracts with the others. There may be some little difficulty in lining up some of these, and we are figuring on making a list for the most of the rest."

This cut in the salary bill, blunder gave a swift kick in the shins, when we went back and signed up several of the boys of the last season. I am thinking that I would save a lot of that trouble this winter and spring, but now the cut in the monthly bill has made it necessary that we make other cuts."

Jack Johnson to reach Mexico soon. Is that unhappy country to know no limit of pain, torture and blight?

If Organized Baseball is a trust, just what would you label Mr. Haughton's Harvard array of talent?

OUR WAR EXPERTS. Some magazine has a yarn to the effect that while we may have a few men trained in the art of trench digging. This wild statement is made in the face of the fact that over 600,000 golfers are now playing their trade in the United States.

A certain New York citizen has been arrested five times for not having a certain minute canner muzzled. He says he can't find a muzzle small enough and so is in deep doubt what to do with the terrier.

When a club signed new talent the old cry used to be "another Wagner" or "another Cobb." Now it is "another Blackstone" or "another Elmer Root."

McGraw, before leaving for Cuba, expressed the hope that with Lobert on deck his machine would be able to resume its old place in front.

Lobert should be a big bid, but the Giant case, in the main, rests with the pitching staff. McGraw would like to get back up to the press with the heavy snuff suffered at the finish by Matty, that toppled over the New York machine.

The records for 1914 show that McGraw never had a pitcher among the first ten in the way of effectiveness, and only one, Tarsenau, among the first thirty.

Mathewson dropped from first place to thirty-third, Tarsenau from third place to eleventh, Marquard from eighth place in 1913 to thirty-eighth, and Demaree from fourth place to fortieth.

PROBABLY never before in the history of championship machine was there such an utter collapse of pitching strength. The entire collection hit the grand slam at top speed.

Mathewson and Tarsenau each earned runs a game—and in 1914 he allowed three—an extra run at every start.

Demaree and Marquard each allowed more than one run to every start through 1914 over their 1913 yield. To get back up to the press with the heavy snuff suffered at the finish by Matty, that toppled over the New York machine.

Mathewson, left Atlanta this morning for Stallings' home, and will spend a week or ten days there, after which he will return to Chattanooga to see the active work of lining his club up for the coming season.

Robideau Knocks Out Gilbert Gallant.

REIDSBURG, Conn., Jan. 18.—Sam Robideau, of Middletown, knocked out Gilbert Gallant, of Boston, in the fourth round of their light-heavyweight fight here last night. The fighters are light.

The bout was fast, both men exchanging telling punches. At the opening of the fourth round Robideau landed a stinging right to Gallant's stomach. Gallant was badly hurt, and he was the last to see the Boston man to the floor.

Bresnahan Tells Of Offer Made By Fed League

St. Louis Federal Made High Bid for Cub Manager—Moguls Gathering in Chicago for Hearing on Dissolution Suit Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Club owners of the National, American and Federal leagues gathered in Chicago today to attend the injunction proceedings instituted by the Federal against organized baseball, which will open in the United States court tomorrow. Only five, it is said, of the club owners probably will be called to testify.

August Herrmann said that organized baseball had prepared its defense and was ready to go into court.

Bresnahan, according to his affidavit, related that he was offered a yearly salary of $12,000 together with $25,000 in stock and a bonus of $5,000 to act as manager of the St. Louis Federal club. That offer, he said, was declined.

After Fielder Jones had been signed as manager of the St. Louis club, Bresnahan stated that he also had declined a contract calling for $50,000 for three years' services by the owners of the Brooklyn Federal. He also had declined a $10,000 bonus, he said, for deserting the Chicago Nationals.

Local boxing matches are attracting quite a bit of attention in other cities. Since Dick Herman came here and put on two separate other New Orleans pugilists are casting glances in this direction.

Arthur lost what should have been a victory over Red Dolan in a draw decision, and New Orleans arches handed him a nice boost on his showing. Since Dolan is a local favorite, he is not willing to meet any other good bantam. Dolan has recently been fighting around New York, and has recently staged several bouts in the main show. He has won every match.

Brooklyn Scrapper Puts Mexican Out in Second Round. Right Swing Did It.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 18.—Frankie Calahan, of Memphis, last night knocked out Joe Rivers, of Los Angeles, in the second round of what was scheduled to have been an eight-round bout.

With the exception of a brief period in the second round Rivers, fought practically all the fighting Calahan, taking blows to the head and body without a flinch, apparently waiting for the opportunity for a knockout, which came after four minutes of fighting.

When the blow was delivered Rivers was sitting himself after a clinch, Calahan's right landing squarely on the jaw as he turned.

Calahan is practically a newcomer as a fighter, while Rivers, although he lost championship battles to both Wolgan and Broke, is a veteran pugilist. He is co-holder for the lightweight title.

Calahan was a former champion, but it was not allowed after a superior fight with Rivers, every round. The fight was announced at 125 rounds.

Matt Brook Steps Patsy McMahon

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 18.—Patsy McMahon, of Memphis, last night knocked out the bell at the beginning of his fight with Matt Brook, of Cleveland. Brook was declared the winner. McMahon claimed a foul in the tenth round, but it was not allowed after a superior fight with Rivers, every round. The fight was announced at 125 rounds.

Player Wins Out Before Commission

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 18.—The National baseball commission reversed the national board here Monday when it declared player John L. Sullivan of the Toronto club of the International league a free agent. Sullivan based his verdict of acquittal on the players' franchise agreement stipulating that on proof of the existence of an agreement of any kind between a player and a club or manager, if a minor league player is not incorporated in such contract he shall be null and void.

Sullivan's claim that Manager Kelly of the Toronto club had been told of such an agreement with him was upheld.
